Federal Amounts Transferred from your Spouse or Common-Law Partner

Protected B when completed

Complete this schedule to claim a transfer of the unused part of your spouse's or common-law partner's federal amounts below. You may be able to claim all or part of certain amounts that your spouse or common-law partner qualifies for if they do not need to use them to reduce their federal tax to zero.

If you were separated because of a breakdown in your relationship for a period of 90 days or more including December 31, 2025, your spouse or common-law partner cannot transfer any unused amounts to you.

If your spouse or common-law partner is filing a return, use the amounts entered on their return.

If your spouse or common-law partner is not filing a return, use the amounts they would have entered on their return, schedules, and worksheets as if they were filing a return, and attach their information slips.

If you were a non-resident of Canada for all of 2025, see Guide T4058, Non-Residents and Income Tax, for information about whether you can claim any transferred federal amounts.

(1) If this is a new claim for the disability amount, attach a completed and certified Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, to your paper return.

Before assessing your return, the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) will review your claim to see if your spouse or common-law partner is eligible for the disability tax credit. If they were eligible for 2024 and still meet the requirements in 2025, you do not need to send the CRA a new Form T2201 to claim this amount. However, you must send the CRA a new Form T2201 if the previous period of approval ended before 2025 or if the CRA asks you to.

(2) The maximum tuition amount your spouse or common-law partner can transfer to you is $5,000 minus the current year amounts they use, even if there is still an unused part for the year.

Your spouse or common-law partner cannot transfer to you their tuition amounts carried forward from a previous year.

See the privacy notice on your return.

Eligibility for the Canada caregiver amount

You may be able to claim the Canada caregiver amount if, at any time in the year, one or more of the following individuals was dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity:

- your spouse or common-law partner
- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) child or grandchild
- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) parent, grandparent, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, niece, or nephew (if they resided in Canada at any time in the year)

For a person to be dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity, the dependency must be solely due to that infirmity. The degree of the infirmity requires the person to be dependent on you for a considerable period of time. A temporary illness or injury is not considered to be an infirmity for the purpose of the Canada caregiver amount.

Person with a mental or physical infirmity	Amount you may be able to claim
Spouse or common-law partner	both of the following amounts: • $2,687 in the calculation of line 30300 • up to $8,601 on line 30425
Eligible dependant 18 years of age or older (must meet conditions for amount for an eligible dependant at line 30400) (see note)	both of the following amounts: • $2,687 in the calculation of line 30400 • up to $8,601 on line 30425
Eligible dependant under 18 years of age at the end of the year (must meet conditions for amount for an eligible dependant at line 30400) (see note)	one of the following amounts: • $2,687 in the calculation of line 30400 • $2,687 on line 30500
Each of your or your spouse's or common-law partner's children under 18 years of age at the end of the year (see note)	$2,687 on line 30500
Each dependant 18 years of age or older (cannot be someone you claimed on line 30300 or line 30400)	up to $8,601 on line 30450

Note: You cannot claim an amount on lines 30400, 30450, and 30500 for your child if you were the only parent required to make support payments for that child to your current or former spouse or common-law partner. This rule applies only if one of the following conditions applied to you:

- You lived separate and apart from your current or former spouse or common-law partner throughout 2025 because of a breakdown of your relationship
- You were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship and you are claiming a deduction on line 22000 of your return for support amounts that you paid to your current or former spouse or common-law partner

For more information, see lines 30400, 30450, and 30500 of this schedule.

Supporting documents

The Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) may ask for a signed statement from a medical practitioner showing when the infirmity began and what its duration is expected to be. However, a signed statement from a medical practitioner is not required if the CRA already has an approved Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, for a specified period.

For children under 18 years of age, the statement should also show that the child is dependent on others for significantly more assistance in attending to personal needs and care than other children of the same age. Due to the mental or physical infirmity, the dependence on others is expected to last for a long and continuous period of indefinite duration. For more information and examples, see Income Tax Folio S1-F4-C2, Basic Personal and Dependant Tax Credits.

Line 30300 – Spouse or common-law partner amount

Claim this amount if, at any time in the year, you supported your spouse or common-law partner and their net income from line 23600 of their return (or the amount that it would be if they filed a return) was less than your basic personal amount (plus $2,687 if your spouse or common-law partner was dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity).

If you had to make support payments to your current or former spouse or common-law partner and you were separated for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship, you can claim whichever amount is better for you:

- the amount on line 22000 of your return for deductible support payments made in the year to your current or former spouse or common-law partner
- the amount on line 30300 of your return for your spouse or common-law partner

If you reconciled with your spouse or common-law partner and were living together on December 31, 2025, you can claim an amount on line 30300 of your return and any allowable amounts on line 32600 of your return.

Only one spouse or common-law partner can claim the amount on line 30300 for each other for the same year.

(1) If your spouse or common-law partner is temporarily outside Canada but still considered a resident of Canada for tax purposes, enter their net world income.

If you were living with your spouse or common-law partner on December 31, 2025, use their net income for the whole year even if you separated for part of the year (then you got back together and started living together again in 2025), got married in 2025, or became a common-law partner or started to live with your common-law partner again in 2025.

If you separated in 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship and were not back together on December 31, 2025, reduce your claim by the amount of your spouse's or common-law partner's net income before the separation.

If your spouse or common-law partner is a non-resident, enter their net world income in Canadian dollars. The CRA may ask you to provide supporting documents later.

Line 30400 – Amount for an eligible dependant

Claim this amount if, at any time in the year, you supported an eligible dependant and their net income from line 23600 of their return (or the amount that it would be if they filed a return) was less than your basic personal amount (plus $2,687 if the eligible dependant was dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity).

If you did not claim an amount on line 30300 of your return, you may be able to claim the amount for one eligible dependant if, at any time in the year, you met all the following conditions:

- You did not have a spouse or common-law partner or, if you did, you were not living with them, supporting them, or being supported by them
- You supported the dependant in 2025
- You lived with the dependant (in most cases in Canada) in a home you maintained. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you

In addition, the dependant must also be one of the following persons by blood, marriage, common-law partnership, or adoption:

- your parent or grandparent
- your child, grandchild, brother or sister under 18 years of age
- your child, grandchild, brother or sister 18 years of age or older with a mental or physical infirmity

Notes: For the purposes of this amount, the CRA considers your dependant to have lived with you if they usually live with you when they are not in school. Further, your child is not required to live in Canada, but they must still have lived with you. For example, you were a deemed resident living in another country with your child. (For information about deemed residents, go to canada.ca/cra-deemed-residents.)

You cannot claim this amount if any of the following applies:

- The person you want to claim this amount for is your spouse or common-law partner. (You may be able to claim an amount for your spouse or common-law partner on line 30300 of your return.)
- Another person is claiming the spouse or common-law partner amount on line 30300 of their return for this dependant
- Another person in your household is making this claim. (Each household is allowed only one claim for this amount, even if there is more than one dependant in the household)
- Another person is claiming the amount on line 30400 of their return for this dependant. If you and another person can both claim this amount for the same dependant (such as in the shared custody of a child) but cannot agree on who will claim the amount, neither of you can make the claim
- You had to pay child support in 2025 for the eligible dependant. You cannot claim an amount on line 30400 for a child you had to make support payments for, except in the following situations:
 - You were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship. In this case, you can choose to claim the amount for an eligible dependant on line 30400 of your return, plus any allowable amounts for that child on line 30425 and line 31800 of your return (where all the eligibility requirements are otherwise met) or the deductible support payments that you made to your spouse or common-law partner on line 22000 of your return.
 - You and another person had to make support payments for the child in 2025. Claim an amount on line 30400 only if you and the other person paying support agree that you will be the one making the claim. For more information, go to canada.ca/taxes-support-payments

Eligible dependant with a mental or physical infirmity

If the eligible dependant is 18 years of age or older and dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity, see line 30425 of this schedule.

If the eligible dependant is under 18 years of age at the end of the year, you may claim one of the following amounts:

- $2,687 on line 30500 of your return for each eligible dependant who is your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) child
- $2,687 in the calculation of line 30400 if the eligible dependant does not meet the definition of child below

A child includes a person who is one of the following:

- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) biological or adopted child
- your child's spouse or common-law partner
- under your custody and control, and wholly dependent on you for support

Note: The eligible dependant must be dependent on others because of the infirmity and will likely continue to be dependent on others for a long and continuous period of indefinite duration. Because of this infirmity, the eligible dependant needs much more help with personal needs and care compared to other persons of the same age.

You cannot split this amount with another person. Once you claim this amount for a dependant 18 years of age or older, no one else can claim this amount or an amount on line 30425 of their return for that dependant.

If you were a single parent on December 31, 2025, and you chose to include all of the universal child care benefit lump-sum payment that you may have received in 2025 on your dependant's return, include this amount in the calculation of the dependant's net income.

If you cannot claim an amount on line 30400 of your return for an eligible dependant 18 years of age or older because you have a spouse or common-law partner, you may still be able to claim the Canada caregiver amount for other infirm dependants age 18 or older on line 30450 of your return.

Line 30450 – Canada caregiver amount for other infirm dependants age 18 or older

You can claim an amount for each dependant who meets all of the following conditions:

- They were dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity
- They were 18 years of age or older
- They were your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) child, grandchild, parent, grandparent, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, niece, or nephew
- They were a resident of Canada at any time in the year. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you
- Their net income from line 23600 of their return (or the amount it would be if they filed a return) was less than $28,798

You cannot claim an amount on line 30450 of your return for dependants who do not have a mental or physical infirmity, including a parent or grandparent.

A parent includes someone you were completely dependent upon and who had custody and control of you when you were under 19 years of age.

A child includes a person who is under your custody and control, and is wholly dependent on you for support, even if they are older than you.

If you or another person is claiming an amount on line 30300 or on line 30400 of the return for the dependant, you cannot claim an amount on line 30450 of the return for that dependant.

If you had to make support payments for a child, you cannot claim an amount on line 30450 of your return for that child. However, if you were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship, you may be able to claim an amount for that child on line 30450 of your return if you do not claim any support amounts paid to your spouse or common-law partner on line 22000 of your return. Claim whichever is better for you.

Note: If you and another person support the same dependant, you can split the claim for that dependant. However, the total amount of your claim and the other person's claim cannot be more than the maximum amount allowed for that dependant.

Line 30500 – Canada caregiver amount for infirm children under 18 years of age

You can claim $2,687 for each of your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) children who meet all of the following conditions. The child:

- was under 18 years of age at the end of the year
- had a mental or physical infirmity and will likely continue to be dependent on others for a long and continuous period of indefinite duration
- needs much more help with personal needs and care compared to other children of the same age

Note: You can claim the full amount in the year of the child's birth, death, or adoption.

If the child does not live with both parents throughout the year, only the parent (or the parent's spouse or common-law partner) who claims an amount on line 30400 for that child can make the claim on line 30500. You may still be able to claim an amount on line 30500 for your child if you (or your spouse or common-law partner) could not claim the amount on line 30400 for any of the following reasons:

- You claimed an amount on line 30300 for your spouse or common-law partner
- You claimed an amount on line 30400 for another dependant
- Another person in your household claimed an amount on line 30400 for another dependant
- The child's income is too high

You (or your spouse or common-law partner) can claim this amount for all eligible children separately, but the amount can only be claimed once for each child.

If you have shared custody of the child throughout the year, the parent who claims the amount for an eligible dependant (line 30400) for that child can make the claim on line 30500. If you have shared custody of the child throughout the year, but cannot agree who will claim the amount, neither of you can make this claim.

If you and another person had to make support payments for the child in the year, you can claim this amount only if both of you agree that you will be making the claim.

If you were the only person who had to make support payments for the child for 2025, you may not be eligible to claim this amount for that child.

For more information about support payments, go to canada.ca/taxes-support-payments.

For the purposes of this amount, a child includes a person who is one of the following:

- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) biological or adopted child
- your child's spouse or common-law partner
- under your custody and control, and wholly dependent on you for support

Enter the number of children you are claiming this amount for on line 30499 of your return and enter the result of the calculation on line 30500.

Note: To transfer all or part of this amount to your spouse or common-law partner, or to claim all or part of their amount, complete Schedule 2.

- You have transferred to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP certain amounts that you included in your income for 2025
- You are designating contributions made to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP as a 2025 repayment under the Home Buyers' Plan (HBP) or the Lifelong Learning Plan (LLP)
- You want to claim the full amount of RRSP, PRPP, or SPP contributions you made (including any unused RRSP, PRPP, or SPP contributions) on line 20800 of your return and you reported employer PRPP contributions on line 20810 of your return

Complete Part E if you withdrew funds from your RRSP in 2025 under the HBP or the LLP.

Complete Part F if you will be the beneficiary of income that was contributed to an amateur athlete trust in 2025 and you want that income to be used to calculate your RRSP deduction limit.

If none of the situations for Parts A to F above apply to you, do not complete this schedule. Instead, enter your total contributions made to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP, or your spouse's or common-law partner's RRSP or SPP, for 2025 on line 20800 of your return.

Attach a copy of this schedule to your paper return. Part A – RRSP, PRPP, and SPP contributions

Complete this part to calculate your total contributions.

Enter, on lines 2 and 3 below, all contributions you made for the dates specified even if you are not designating or deducting them on your 2025 return. Otherwise, the Canada Revenue Agency may reduce or disallow your claim for these contributions on your return for a future year.

Include on lines 2 and 3 amounts transferred to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP (also see line 24640 in Part C) and contributions you are designating as a repayment under the HBP or the LLP (Part B).

Do not include any of the following amounts on lines 2 and 3:

- unused RRSP, PRPP, or SPP contributions you made after March 3, 2025, that were refunded to you or your spouse or common-law partner in 2025
- all or part of the contributions you made to your RRSP or an RRSP for your spouse or common-law partner less than 90 days before either of you withdrew funds from that RRSP under the HBP or the LLP. For more information, go to canada.ca/home-buyers-plan or canada.ca/lifelong-learning-plan
- your employer's contributions to your PRPP as reported on line 20810 of your return
- any payment directly transferred to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP if you did not receive an information slip or if the payment is shown in box 35 of your T4RSP or T4RIF slips
- the part of an RRSP withdrawal that you recontributed to your RRSP and deducted on line 23200 of your return. This would have happened if you withdrew more RRSP funds than necessary in error to get past service benefits under a registered pension plan (RPP)
- the excess part of a direct transfer of a lump-sum payment from your RPP to an RRSP, a PRPP, or a registered retirement income fund (RRIF) that you withdrew and are including on line 12900 or line 13000 and deducting on line 23200 of your 2025 return
- contributions made from exempt earnings (see Form RC383, Tax-Exempt Earned Income and Contributions for a Pooled Registered Pension Plan)

Enter your unused RRSP contributions previously reported and available to deduct for 2025 as shown on your latest notice of assessment or reassessment, or Form T1028 for 2025 (unused RRSP contributions also include your unused PRPP and SPP contributions).

Part B – Repayments under the HBP and the LLP

If you withdrew funds from your RRSP under the HBP before 2022 or under the LLP before 2024, you may have to make a repayment to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP for 2025. Your 2025 minimum required repayment is shown on your latest notice of assessment or reassessment, or Form T1028 for 2025.

For first withdrawals of HBP between January 1, 2022, and December 31, 2025, the start of the repayment period has been deferred by an additional three years. For example, if you made your first withdrawal in 2022, your first year of repayment will be 2027.

Complete lines 7 and 8 below if you are designating contributions made from January 1, 2025, to March 2, 2026, to your own RRSP, PRPP, or SPP as a 2025 repayment under the HBP or the LLP. If you designate less than the minimum required repayment amount for 2025, report the difference on line 12900 of your return.

Do not include any of the following amounts on lines 7 and 8:

- any amount you deducted or designated on your 2024 return as a repayment or that was refunded to you
- any contributions or transfers you will be including on line 15 or line 18 in Part C

If you are not required to make a repayment under the HBP or the LLP, enter "0" on line 9 and continue at line 10.

For repayment information for the HBP, go to canada.ca/home-buyers-plan.

For repayment information for the LLP, go to canada.ca/lifelong-learning-plan.

Part C – RRSP deduction

Complete this part to calculate your RRSP deduction on line 20800 of your return.

Note: You may not have reported income that you received in a previous year on your return for that year. If reported, that income may give you more room to contribute to an RRSP, PRPP, or SPP in later years. To ensure your RRSP deduction limit is up to date and maximized, file your return for that year and report the income.

If you transferred certain types of this income to your RRSP, PRPP, or SPP on or before March 2, 2026, you can claim the same amount on line 24640 as a transfer. Claiming the transfer ensures that your RRSP deduction limit is not reduced by that amount. For more information about amounts you can transfer, see Guide T4040.

The Quebec Pension Plan (QPP) was amended to provide for the enhancement of pensions. The enhancements are funded by additional contributions that began in January 2019.

As of January 2024, a second additional QPP contribution is required on pensionable earnings that are more than the year's maximum pensionable earnings, but not more than the year's additional maximum pensionable earnings.

QPP contributions consist of a base amount, first additional amount, and second additional amount. The contributions that you are required to make are determined by your total amount of pensionable earnings for the year.

Your employer will have already deducted the contributions from your salary or wages. As a self-employed individual, you will calculate your required contributions (if any), including the base, first, and second additional amounts, on this schedule.

For more information about the enhancements, go to revenuquebec.ca/en.

For more information about lines 22200, 22215, 30800, and 31000, go to canada.ca/fed-tax-information.

Complete this schedule to calculate your required 2025 QPP contributions if both of the following apply:

- You were a resident of Quebec on December 31, 2025

Attach a copy of this schedule to your paper return.

Do not complete this schedule if any of your T4 slips show Canada Pension Plan (CPP) contributions. Instead, complete Form RC381, Inter-Provincial Calculation for CPP and QPP Contributions and Overpayments.

Line 31800 – Disability amount transferred from a dependant

You may be able to claim all or part of your dependant's (other than your spouse's or common-law partner's) disability amount from line 31600 of their return if all of the following apply:

- A medical practitioner certified, using Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, that your dependant had a severe and prolonged impairment in physical or mental functions during 2025
- The CRA approved Form T2201 for your dependant
- Your dependant was resident in Canada at any time in 2025
- Your dependant was dependent on you for support on a regular and consistent basis for all or some of the basic necessities of life such as food, shelter, and clothing
- One of the following applies:
 - You claimed an amount on line 30400 of your return for that dependant, or you could have if you did not have a spouse or common law partner and if the dependant did not have any income (see line 30400 of Schedule 5 for conditions)
 - The dependant was your (or your spouse's or common law partner's) parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, niece, or nephew and you claimed an amount on line 30450 of your return for that dependant, or you could have if they had no income and had been 18 years of age or older in 2025

If your dependant was eligible for the disability tax credit for 2024 and still meets the requirements in 2025, you do not need to send the CRA a new Form T2201 to claim this amount. However, you must send the CRA a new form T2201 if the previous period of approval ended before 2025 or if the CRA asks you to.

Notes: You cannot claim the unused part of the disability amount if the spouse or common-law partner of the person with a disability is already claiming the disability amount or any other non-refundable tax credit (other than medical expenses) for the person with a disability.

If you are splitting the unused part of this amount with another person, the total amount claimed for that dependant cannot be more than the maximum amount allowed for that dependant.

If you or someone else paid for an attendant or for care in an establishment for that dependant, special rules may apply. For more information, see Guide RC4065, Medical Expenses.

For more information about amounts you may be able to claim, see Guide RC4064, Disability-Related Information, or go to canada.ca/disability-credits-deductions.
